

Unit – III

2 Mark Questions

1. How does Internet References prove to be useful to researchers? (Jan 15)

Internet reference helps the researchers to complete their thesis by using the web sources. Everyone can access the internet sources for their research work, the researcher can get the secondary sources, quotations and even primary text from the internet. The reader can develop their reference skill through the internet also.

2. What is the effectiveness of sentences in writing? (April 19)

The ability to write effective sentences is essential for success in technical communication because writing anything primarily involves writing sentences. Whether it is a long technical report or brief E-mail message, sentences have to be written and the effectiveness of the writing will depend upon the effectiveness of the sentences. Using effective sentence figures involves avoiding awkward sentence structure, fragments and fused sentences while choosing appropriate sentence pattern.

3. Highlight the importance of predicting the context while reading a text. (Nov 16)

When we are reading the text the readers can apply the techniques of the skimming and scanning accordingly. Every reader can predict the context of the text in what way the writers conveying the message to the readers. By reading the key points and important sentences we can predict the whole content knowledge.

4. How does dictionary help in developing Vocabulary? (Jan 15, May 18)

Reference skill may consists of several ways, dictionary reference alone can develop the readers vocabulary skill. The reader can get the meaning of the particular word, can get the antonyms, noun form, adjective form, phonetic transcriptom, syllable form, also reader can develop their vocabulary skill by referring the dictionary.

5. How do we construct an effective paragraph? (Nov19)

A paragraph deals with a single controlling idea. In order to construct an effective paragraph a careful writing plan should be adopted to ensure proper length, unity, coherence, logical development and organization of ideas. The main function of a paragraph is to develop, support, exemplify or explain the theme to be conveyed.

6. What are the stages involved while writing a paragraph?

Main sentence: It expresses the main idea of the paragraph.

Major sentence: Which expand, illustrate, explain, support, or strengthen the main idea with secondary points and major supporting details.

Minor supporting sentences: which further exemplify and support the main idea with minor points and minor supporting details.

7. Write a short note on summarizing. (May 16)

Summarizing is the process of condensing information without changing the original meaning and focus of a passage. This requires language competence and regular practice. Summarizing involves adopting an effective reading strategy, and using appropriate techniques of summarizing outlining and paragraphing. Summarizing is an essential skill for various purposes. It also improves our ability to write concisely. Summarizing like note-making is a productive skill integrating both reading and writing skills. It involves reading strategy, summarizing techniques, outlining and paraphrasing.

8. What is referencing?

Referencing is a systematic method of documenting or citing sources used in a passage of text. Referencing is a useful skill that we require for several academic purposes. The meaning of the word reference is direction to a book, journal. The referencing forms include parenthesis, footnotes, endnotes, references or bibliography. Referencing skills are essential for study purposes.

9. What are the techniques involved in summarizing? (May 16)

Selection: The process of choosing the information that is essential to the meaning of the passage is known as selection.

Rejection: The reader may reject all information that is unnecessary or redundant.

Substitution: In order to summarize a passage, the techniques of substitution may have to be used. It may involve synthesis, sentence substitution, and one word substitution.

10. What is bibliography? And its entries need for the books and journals. (Nov 16)

Bibliography is the list of reference materials that are used as a support to the argument of a researcher. The term bibliography is a list of books on a specific subject. Broadly, it refers to a descriptive list of all sources that may provide further information on the subjects.

Bibliographical entries play a vital role among the readers because it helps the readers to find the book, author name, publication details. This helps others to get the specific required materials for their own use.

11. Draw a short note on difference between bibliography and reference.

The term bibliography refers to a list of books on a specific subject whereas references refer to the information related to the sources used in a document.

The bibliography placed at the end of the document whereas in reference keep a record of the sources of information that has been used.

In bibliography one follows an appropriate logical order to list the sources whereas in referencing the list of sources can be in any order.

12.How will you make bibliographical entries with reference to sources from journals? (MAY 16, May 19)

Scholarly journals are usually quarterlies and are meant for professionals and students. The author name must be reversed as usual, the name and volume number of the journal are after the name of the author and the title of the article. The volume number is followed by the year of publication in parenthesis.

13.Define indices (Layout). (May 18)

It is a list of words or phrases to say the readers where they can find materials related to that heading. In old published books one can find indices in the back of the book. It includes names of the people, places and events and concepts selected by a person as being relevant and interest to a possible reader of the book.

14.How to refer the library?

The library is an organized collection of resources made accessible to a defined community for references or borrowing. A library collection can include books, periodicals, newspapers, manuscripts, films, maps, prints, documents, microforms, CDs, cassettes, videotapes, DVDs, video games, e-books, audio books and other formats.

15.Define the narrative writing.

- The primary purpose of narrative writing is to describe an experience, event or sequence of events in the form of a story.
- Normally chronological.
- A sequential presentation of the events that add up to a story.
- A narrative differs from a mere listening of events. Narration usually contains the characters and a resolution.
- Time and place and person are normally established.
- Specific details always help a story but so does interpretative language.

Example includes:

Anecdotes
 Autobiography
 Biography
 Novels
 Oral history
 Short story

16. Write a short note on user manual and spec sheets.

User manual: The user manual is a set of instruction or explanation written to help the reader, understanding some software application or any system. The important criteria of writing this user manual is the usage of simple language for easy read of non-technical users.

Spec sheets: It illustrates the constructions and manufacturing process. It is widely used in mechanical, instrumental, architecture, production and manufacturing industries. The spec sheets are mainly targeting to the contractors, who will analyze the information and the package which includes all the required schematics and they would estimate the scope and expertise required for the completion of the project.

17. What is paragraph writing?

A paragraph can be defined as a distinct section of a piece of writing. It consists of several related sentences and deals with one controlling idea. This controlled idea is called the topic or the theme of the paragraph. The main function of a paragraph is to develop, support, exemplify or explain this theme.

18. What are the kinds of sentences?

The kind of sentences used in a particular piece of writing will depend of the type and nature of the message.

Descriptive sentences
 Narrative sentences
 Expository sentences
 Argumentative sentences

19. What is technical writing? (Jan15)

The Society of Technical Communication (STC) defuses technical communication as a broad field that includes many forms of communication that exhibits one or more of the following characteristics. Communicate by using technology such as web page, help files or social media sites. Providing information about how to do something, regardless of how technical the task is, and regardless of whether the technology is used to create or distribute that communication.

20. What is argumentative writing?

This form of persuasive writing has a primary purpose of making a statement that the reader will disagree with, then supporting the statement with specific details that will convince the reader about the truth of the statement.

The purpose of argumentative is to prove the validity of an idea or point of view by presenting sound reasoning. Persuasive writing is a type of argumentation with the additional aim to urge the reader to take some form of action.

21. Define expository writing.

The primary purpose of expository writing is to provide information such as an explanation or directions.

- Exposition is an explanatory writing
- Exposition can be an incidental of a description or a narration, or it can be the heart of an article.
- Aside from clarity, the key problem with exposition is credibility.

22. Write a short note on journal reference and give the example. (May 16)

Journal reference includes the name of the author, name of the article/ paper, name of the journal, volume number and issue number & date of the journal, volume number and issue number and date of the issue. A comma is used to separate each detail of the entry. The name of the article is within commas while the name of the journal is in italics.

Hal Lancaster, “Learning to manage in a Global Workplace”, The Wall Street Journal, 2 (June 1998)

23. What is journal reference? Explain with examples. (May 16)

The Journal Reference includes name of the author, name of the article / paper, name of the journal, volume number and issue number & date of the journal, and date of the issue. A comma is used to separate each detail of the entry. The name of the article is within commas while the name of the journal is in italics. (or underlined)

Hal Lancaster, “Learning to manage in a Global workplace”, The wall Street Journal, 2 (June 1998)

24. What are the four modes of writing? (April 17)

The four modes of writings are:

- ✓ Descriptive mode
- ✓ Narrative mode
- ✓ Exposition mode &
- ✓ Argumentative mode

5 or 6 Mark Questions

1. What are the strategies used to increase the effectiveness of the sentences? (Apr 19)

Avoid awkward sentence structures: One of the most serious writing errors in constructing sentences with an awkward structure. This might be the result of using wrong word order, confusion phrases and dangling clauses or modifiers.

Avoid sentence fragments: Ideas should be expressed in complete sentences and sentence fragments should be avoided. A fragmented sentence does not convey the complete meaning and can be quite confusing for the server.

Avoid fused sentences: A fused sentence may be the result of the writer's intention to express complete thought in a sentence. Overemphasizing on expressing a "complete thought" in a sentence should be avoided.

2. What are the strategies involved in a careful writing plan? (Nov 16)

Writing an effective paragraph involves adopting careful writing plan that ensures proper length, unity, coherence and logical development of ideas.

Proper length: Effective paragraph vary in length, paragraph length should be adjusted according to the needs and requirement of the reader, subject matter, writing, style, variety and emphasis.

Unity: Unity should be maintained, only one idea should be developed and every sentence in the paragraph should be used to support and expand that idea. Deviations should be avoided.

Coherence: Coherence shows the logical relationship between the elements and the construction. While unity is concerned with singleness, coherence is concerned with relatedness.

Logical development of idea: A paragraph should be developed in logical manner. It should be organized in such a way that one sentence leads on naturally to the next.

3. How to write a good paragraph? (Or) What are the principles of paragraph writing? (May 16)

A paragraph can be defined as a distinct section of a piece of writing. It consists of several related sentences and deals with one controlling idea. This controlled idea is called the topic or the theme of the paragraph. The main function of a paragraph is to develop, support, exemplify or explain this theme.

In technical and professional writing, a paragraph may consist of the following three kinds of sentences.

MAIN SENTENCE: Which expresses the main idea of the paragraph.

MAJOR SUPPORTING SENTENCES: which expand, illustrate, explain, support, or strengthen the main idea with secondary points and major supporting details.

MINOR SUPPORTING SENTENCES: which further exemplify and support the main deal with minor points, minor supporting details.

These sentences may be arranged logically by taking care of the proper distribution of emphasis in a paragraph. Writing an effective paragraph involves adopting a careful writing plan that ensures proper length, unity coherence and logically development of ideas.

PROPER LENGTH: Paragraph length should be adjusted according to the needs and requirements of the readers.

UNITY: Only one idea should be developed and every sentence in the paragraph should be used to support and expand that idea.

COHERENCE: Coherence shows the logical relationship between the elements and the construction. While unity is concerned with singleness, coherence is concerned with relatedness.

LOGICAL DEVELOPMENT OF IDEAS: A paragraph should be developed in a logical manner. It should be organized in such a way that one sentences leads on naturally to the next.

4. Illustrate summarizing and its techniques. (May 16, Nov 16)

Summarizing is the process of conducting information without changing the original meaning and focus of a passage. This requires language competence and regular practice. Summarizing involves adopting an effective reading strategy, and using appropriate techniques of summarizing outlining and paragraphing. Summarizing is an essential skill for various purposes. It also impresses our ability to write concisely. Summarizing like note-making is a productive skill integrating both reading and writing skills. It involves reading strategy, summarizing techniques, outlining and paraphrasing.

The three main techniques are used in summarizing is:

Selection: The process of choosing the information that is essential to the meaning of the passage is known as selection. In order to select the core information, the reader needs to concentrate on the central idea or theme of a passage, main points and major supporting points.

Rejection: Rejection is the process of removing all that is not important. The reader may reject all information that is unnecessary or redundant.

Substitution: In order to summarize a passage, the techniques of substitution may have to be used. It may involve synthesis, sentence substitution, and one word substitution.

5. Write the uses of Library. (Nov 18, Nov 19)

1. To find out the synonyms and antonyms.
2. To see the explanation of a word.
3. To find out the pronunciation of a word.
4. To find out the parts of speech.
5. To find out the abbreviations.
6. To improve our vocabulary.
7. To find out the “verb” and “noun” form of a word.
8. To find out the plural form of a word.
9. To find out the idioms and phrases.
10. To find out the American terms and spellings.
11. To see the usage and example sentences of the particular word.

Straight 11 Mark Question (Refer the text book for the answers)

1. Write a note on referencing and bibliography.
2. Explain in detail the four modes of writing. (Nov 18)
3. Define the clarity, cohesion and conciseness.
4. How will develop your writing skill?
5. Explain the features of effective writing.
6. Explain the role of library in the pursuit of knowledge.
7. Discuss in detail the norms and styles employed in making bibliographical entries from various sources. (Nov 16, Nov18)
8. What are the characteristics of technical writing?(Jan 15) (5m)
9. What is conciseness and Flow? (Jan 15) (5m)

10. Discuss in detail the norms and styles employed in making bibliographical entries.
(Nov 16, April 18, May 17) (5 m)
11. Explain the types of essays. (Jan 15) (5m)
12. What is technical writing? How is this different from writing in general? (Nov 18)
13. Punctuate the following passage: (April 17)
the centre for water resources college of engineering took up appropriate technology product in 1976 and completed it in 1978 project specially designed to suite rural conditions in india since the villagers in india face acute power shortages it was hoped that this project when implemented would prove a boon to the rural masses